DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The corrected or substitute drawings were received on 12/31/01. These drawings of figures 2 and 3, however, have been misplaced from the file. It is requested that the applicant resubmit these drawings.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 1-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The independent claims 1 and 8 have been amended to include that "said first and second inductive elements are magnetically coupled" which does not appear in the originally filed specification. In fact, the specification appears to disclose and teach the opposite on page 29, for example, which states, "thus the mutual inductance between the mirrored resonators of the present invention is virtually zero." This statement implies that there is no magnetically coupling between L1a and L1b, the inductances that are connected to have opposite flowing currents shown in figure 32a, for example. Moreover, the inductances L1a, L1b are graphically illustrated in the figures (e.g., figure 32b) as being oriented such that the magnetically coupling between the two inductances would be virtually zero. Likewise, claim

Art Unit: 2817

15 has been amended to recite that the resonators magnetically coupled together in cascade have the mutually induced currents cancelled by physical proximity and orientation that reduces the respective inductances. The originally specification appears to teach that the mirrored resonators (i.e. not the ones cascaded) reduces the inductances (see figure 32b and description thereof on page 27). Claim 16 also appears to affirm this by reciting a mirrored configuration for the resonators (i.e. not the cascaded resonators). This appears to be contrary to the specification and is considered new matter.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-14 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Nevertheless, it should be pointed out that the applicant argues that the inductor 24 in Cawain is not connected to ground but to a capacitor 23.

This argument is not persuasive because "connected to" broadly reads on two things connected to each other by way of a common connection to something else. Therefore, inductor 24 is connected to ground even though capacitor 23 is in between. Moreover, at high frequencies, capacitors act as short circuits; therefore, the inductor is connected to ground through a virtual short circuit capacitor at high frequencies.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

Art Unit: 2817

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
